Company Profile

At Be Be Cotton, we have taken a major step in building a brand new dyeing mill focusing only on eco-dyeing. We also incorporate the AVITERA™ SE dyestuffs from Huntsman.

With AVITERA™ SE dyes, the dyeing and the washing-off process is required to operate at a maximum temperature of 60°C rather than the 90°C in typical dyeing process. Dye adsorption is very high and with only five percent or less unfixed dye needing to be removed, instead of the usual 15 to 30 percent, the number of rinsing baths to obtain the required fastness properties is greatly reduced. The combined result is a significantly reduced water and energy consumption and CO₂ emissions for the dyeing processes.

The heating and power of our new mill for the dyeing machine are supplied by steam and electricity from a co-gen power plant in the industrial park to achieve a maximum integration of energy. In addition, our machine was fueled by natural gas which produces less CO₂ compared with those using normal fuel oil. We warmly welcome your visit to our new mill and help to build a greener environment for the fabric industry.
